Motion for De Novo Hearing on a Temporary Restraining Order or Injunction

Case No. _____

This motion must be filed with the court within 30 days after the circuit court commissioner issued a determination on the temporary restraining order or injunction. The case was decided by a circuit court commissioner on [Date] _____. De novo hearing will not be allowed unless this motion is filed within that time limit.

- I am the petitioner respondent in a Temporary Restraining Order; OR an Injunction.
- The Temporary Restraining Order or Injunction was the following type of action:
 Domestic Abuse
 Child Abuse
 Individual at Risk
 Harassment

I request a de novo hearing before a circuit court judge.

A de novo hearing means a circuit court judge conducts a new hearing on the temporary restraining order or injunction. The circuit court judge does not have to consider the record which was before the commissioner, but conducts the hearing as if the earlier hearing before the circuit court commissioner never occurred. This means that any evidence presented to the circuit court commissioner must be presented again, and any witnesses who testified must testify again, in order for the judge to consider the evidence or witness testimony.

The clerk of circuit court will provide a copy of this motion and notice of any scheduled hearing date to the parties.
