TABLE OF PENDING CASES

The following table describes pending cases the Supreme Court has accepted on petition for review, bypass, certification, and original jurisdiction.

The cases included for the first time (that is, the most recently accepted cases) are marked with an asterisk (*) next to the case number. After the Supreme Court decides a case, the date of oral argument or date of submission on briefs will be replaced with the date of the Supreme Court decision and an abbreviated mandate. That mandate will generally be displayed in the table for two months, after which the case will be removed.

The information in the table, from left to right, is as follows:

- Case No.: Case number this includes hyperlinks to online case access;
- Case Caption: the abbreviated caption of the case (case name);
- Issue(s): a summary of the issues, with hyperlinks to relevant statutes and cases where applicable;
- SC Accepted: the date the Supreme Court accepted the case including how the case reached the Supreme Court. Abbreviations used are:

BYPA = Petition to bypass CERT = Certification
ORIG = Original Action REVW = Petition for review

- Oral Arg./Brief Subm. Date: the date of oral argument or submission on briefs; or the date of the Supreme Court decision along with an abbreviated mandate;
- CA Dist./Cty Information: the Court of Appeals district from which the case came, if applicable, as well as the county of origin;
- CA Decision: the date of the Court of Appeals decision, if applicable;
- Decision Publication Status: Indication of whether the Court of Appeals decision is published or unpublished. If published, citations to the public domain and the official reports are provided, along with hyperlinks where available.

The issues presented in this table are intended to be concise and do not aim to provide a comprehensive or detailed description of the specific case. Readers who want to understand the specifics of these issues should refer to the records and briefs filed with the Supreme Court.

The following table covers cases accepted and decisions issued through August 17, 2026. Please direct any comments regarding this table to the Clerk of Supreme Court via email to Clerk@WICourts.gov.

2022AP431	Wisconsin State Legislature v. Josh Kaul Through 2017 Wisconsin Act 369, the Wisconsin Legislature amended Wis. Stat. § 165.10 to require the Department of Justice to “deposit all settlement funds into the general fund.” Does the Department “deposit all settlement funds into the general fund” when it places moneys received from settlements into program revenue appropriations in the general fund? If the court determines that Wis. Stat. § 165.10 and § 20.906(1) should be interpreted not to prohibit the attorney general from crediting settlement funds into the appropriation under Wis. Stat. § 20.455(3)(g), does the language of Wis. Stat. § 20.455(3)(g) authorize the crediting of civil action settlement proceeds to that appropriation? In other words, do the services rendered by Department of Justice personnel in litigating a civil action on behalf of the State of Wisconsin or an executive branch agency constitute “proceeds from services” under Wis. Stat. § 20.455(3)(g)?	12/08/2025 REVW Reversed in Part 07/10/2026 2026 WI 28	3 Polk	12/18/2024 Pub. 2025 WI App 2

2024AP577	Friends of Blue Mound State Park v. Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources Wis. Subsection (3) of § 227.42 is a limited exception to that right “where hearings at the discretion of the agency are expressly authorized by law.” The question is whether a “hearing[] at the discretion of the agency” refers to a contested case hearing or something substantially similar (consistent with legislative intent and statutory language)—or (as the Court of Appeals held for the first time) any hearing at all, regardless of its form or procedural safeguards. 2024AP673	Sierra Club v. Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources As part of its role in issuing air-pollution control permits, DNR has developed an internal guidance memorandum about how best to determine the impact that a proposed facility’s emissions will have on air quality. This guidance memo instructs DNR staff to use data collected from statewide and regional air-quality monitors and data extrapolated from those monitors. The memo does not independently impose any mandatory requirements and instead implements the air-permitting procedures codified in statute and in state and federal administrative rules. The memo expressly states that it “does not establish or affect legal rights or obligations,” “does not create any rights enforceable by any party in litigation,” and that it “is not finally determinative of any . . . issues addressed,” which will instead be determined in the final permitting decision. 2024AP777	State v. John R. Phelan Did the court of appeals misinterpret Wis. Stat. § 29.921(5) in a manner that incorrectly circumscribes the Legislature’s grant of additional arrest authority to trained and certified wardens? Did the court of appeals incorrectly interpret Wis. Stat. § 29.921(5)’s authorization for wardens to “arrest a person who has committed a crime in the presence of the warden” as applying only when a “warden has personally witnessed—based on any combination of the warden’s contemporaneous sensory perceptions, but based only on those contemporaneous perceptions—facts that objectively support probable cause to believe that the person has committed a crime, and not merely a civil law violation, in the warden’s presence”? Did the court of appeals misinterpret Wis. Stat. § 29.921(5) when it read the phrase “A warden may not conduct investigations . . . of state law” so broadly as to prohibit a warden who validly arrests a person from performing tasks attendant to an arrest, such as picking up and securing evidence? Did the court of appeals misinterpret Wis. Stat. § 29.921(5) so as to prohibit a warden who is assisting another law enforcement agency at the other agency’s request from doing anything to actually assist such as taking photos, or collecting or securing evidence? Did the court of appeals incorrectly conclude that the remedy for a violation of Wis. Stat. § 29.921(5) by improperly conducting an investigation is suppression even though Phelan’s constitutional rights were not violated, Wis. Stat. § 29.921(5) says nothing about suppression for conducting an investigation, suppression is inconsistent with the statute’s objectives, and the circuit court did not determine that suppression was warranted? 	Should this Court revisit and modify the framework for statutory interpretation set out in State ex. rel. Kalal v. Circuit Court, under which the determination of whether a statutory term has a plain meaning or is ambiguous is limited to dictionary definitions and “intrinsic” sources, in favor of a broader, holistic approach that gives due consideration “to relevant extrinsic sources to interpret a statute’s meaning, conscious ... of those sources’ limitations?” See SEIU Healthcare Wisconsin v. WERC, 2025 WI 29, ¶¶65, 416 Wis. 2d 688, 22 N.W.3d 876 (Dallet, J., concurring). Alternatively, did the Court of Appeals err in treating the statutory “public policy declaration” in Wis. Stat. § 108.01 as merely a rule of construction, rather than a textual statement of scope and purpose that under Kalal must be considered to determine the plain meaning of Wis. Stat. § 108.02(15)(k)16. in the first instance, with the result that the Court of Appeals incorrectly concluded that the statutory term “consumer products” was unambiguous? Whether the Court of Appeals erred in applying the statutory interpretation framework established by this Court in State ex. rel. Kalal v. Cir. Ct. for Dane Cnty., 2004 WI 58, 271 Wis. 2d 633, 681 N.W.2d 110 by not giving due consideration to an applicable intrinsic source, the Unemployment Act’s purpose statement under Wis. Stat. § 108.01(1), and the plain meaning of the law? Whether the Court of Appeals erred in its analysis of Wis. Stat. § 108.02(15)(k)16. by finding the statutory phrase “consumer products” unambiguous, and by doing so, did it err by resorting to multiple dictionary definitions to separately define each word and by disregarding relevant extrinsic sources?

2026AP1008	Wisconsin Business Leaders for Democracy v. Wisconsin Elections Commission The circuit court held that anti-competitive gerrymandering claims like Plaintiffs’ “are functionally equivalent to partisan gerrymandering claims” for purposes of assessing justiciability under the political question doctrine. (App.608) Did the circuit court err by holding that anti-competitive gerrymandering claims are functionally the same as partisan gerrymandering claims? The circuit court concluded that this Court has “effectively foreclosed [all constitutional challenges to Wisconsin’s congressional map] by holding that Article IV contains ‘the exclusive repository of state constitutional limits on redistricting.’” (App.611 (quoting Johnson I, 2021 WI 87, ¶163)) Did the circuit court err by holding that all state constitutional limits on redistricting are contained within Article IV of Wisconsin’s Constitution? Because the circuit court concluded that this Court’s precedent holds “that claims of the sort Plaintiffs allege are not actionable under Wisconsin law” and that the circuit court “ha[d] no authority to modify or overrule that precedent” (App.606), it did not independently assess whether anti-competitive gerrymandering violates Wisconsin’s Constitution. Is anti-competitive gerrymandering a cognizable claim under the Wisconsin Constitution? The circuit court did not consider potential objections to recognizing anti-competitive gerrymandering such as the independent state legislature theory, preclusion, and laches.
